Now what?

Beatenberg

1. St. Beatus Caves

What? Release the dragon! Hunted by St Beat, a 6th century monk, the story goes that the mythological creature took shelter in this extraordinary geological site – St Beatus Caves. Explore deep into the very heart of the mountain along over a kilometer of well-lit walkways, and discover stalactites and stalagmites that have been formed by nature over millions of years; the rock formations themselves creating a truly indescribable atmosphere deep underground. Visit the Cave Museum and learn more! Fun and informative, the museum uses the latest infotainment technologies to bring the Caves' history to life.
